

Dear Dog Owners

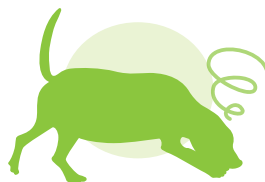

-About Thyroid Blood Test-

Have you overlooked
the following symptoms
because your dog is quiet?

If one or more of the following symptoms are observed, your dog may have hypothyroidism, a disease that results from low levels of thyroid hormone.

☒ Lethargy

☒ Gaining weight recently

☒ Getting tired easily

☒ Lots of dandruff

☒ Hair loss in the tail

☒ Skin pigmentation (skin appears brown)

Susceptible dog breeds

Golden retriever

Labrador retriever

Doberman

Beagle

German shepherd

Hypothyroidism Q&A

Q What is the cause?

A Autoimmunity is involved, and it often occurs naturally.

Q Can it be cured?

A The symptoms can often be improved by using thyroid hormone drugs.

Q What happens if it gets severe?

A Staggering gait, low body temperature, coma, etc. may develop.

Q What tests are necessary?

A A blood sample is taken to check the levels of thyroid-related hormones in the blood.
Too much or too little thyroid hormone has a negative impact on dogs.

Please consult with a veterinarian about getting your dog tested

